

Paul Dalton

Strategic Associate,
Europe

AT-A-GLANCE

- Leadership Development
- Train-the-Trainer
- Management Development

- Europe

With a top priority of client success, Paul works closely with individuals and groups to form solutions that will create a long-term roadmap for success.

Business Experience

Paul is a sought-after leadership expert, specializing in the design and delivery of behavior-based leadership development programs for global organizations. For the past 15 years, he has helped multiple businesses to navigate change and create cultures that drive for sustainable success. He regularly works with senior managers to prepare them for their next step up into the board room, using his extensive performance coaching experience to create focused actions, along with mental toughness and resiliency. Paul is a certified facilitator of the Zenger Folkman Extraordinary Leader Program, a proven 360 feedback methodology for enhancing leadership competencies and improving business results.

In addition to his work in leadership capability, he trains professionals at all levels to present with impact and provides facilitation masterclasses to internal company trainers.

Career Background

Prior to his partnership with TTI, Paul was a senior delivery consultant with RogenSi, an international training provider, working with many of the world's largest banks, professional services, pharmaceutical and manufacturing businesses. Before that he spent 10 years with JPMorgan Chase EMEA as a Senior Learning and Development Business Partner.

Testimonial

"Paul is a real think tank and an extremely valuable contributor to the leadership development and coaching field. Tapping into his exceptional background and experience he offers rich and practical guidance on personal growth with deep impact."